Monday - Learning to SEE

We will be learning all about what makes a photograph a GREAT photograph. You will learn some BASIC traits of Photographic Composition. We will then practice by photographing in Historic Downtown.

Tuesday - Seeing like a PHOTOG

We will start the day by reviewing the previous day's BEST images. We will continue talking about Photographic Composition and then go photograph at the Stern-Hoya Museum.

Wednesday - Faces and Places

We will evaluate the previous day's images and then off to photographing each other at a few different places. During our trek, we will be discovering how LIGHT differs from one location to another.

Thursday - Motion Commotion

Today is all about movement. We will use some awesome photo techniques to stop moving objects. We don't STOP there but will continue and show how subjects in motion can be photographed creatively to show motion. We will of course show the BEST of the previous days images.

Friday - The Grand Finalé

Today is totally FUN. To start the day, we will have a Photo Safari with emphasis on photographic composition and creativity. We will then make our selection of our favorite images that will become your PORTFOLIO.

From the early age of 13, photography has been a passion of mine. I've had the privilege of living my dream, working as a professional photographer for over 30 years starting as the university photographer for Stephen F. Austin and then opening a portrait studio. After earning a Master's degree, I began my next photography related journey of teaching and have taught over 1000 students photography in the Mass Communication department. Now retired from teaching, I am looking forward to passing my passion on to our community through workshops, photo walks and talks. I look forward to teaching your kids a little about photography while having fun. It should be a great week. ~Greg Patterson
